WHAT: Common Sense Common Core – THE CONNECTION BETWEEN THE ARTS & ELA

PRESENTER & Description: BRUCE D. TAYLOR

A graduate from the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, national speaker and author of Common Sense Arts Standards: How the Arts Can Thrive in an Era of Common Core & The Arts Equation: A Common Sense Approach to the Arts in Education. He will turn his extensive experience, skill, and talents to address the arts' historic opportunity with states' adoption of the Common Core State Standards — a wholesale shift in this nation's paradigm for teaching and learning. As an arts education consultant for Atlanta Public Schools and the University of Chicago's Urban Education Institute, Bruce is developing structures and methods that demonstrate how to use the arts to increase overall student achievement as mandated by Common Core. His presentations for K-12 ELA & Arts teachers will discuss the practical ways to incorporate common core and literacy within the Arts classroom including engaging activities and practical ideas for supporting a robust Arts and Literacy connection.
